Rich Man, Poor Man is a 1976 American television miniseries based on the 1969 novel of the same name by Irwin Shaw that aired on ABC in one- or two-hour episodes mostly on Monday nights over seven weeks, beginning February 1. It was produced by Universal Television and was the second time programming of this nature had been attempted. The first TV miniseries, QB VII, had aired — also on ABC ...

Poor Richard's Almanack (sometimes Almanac) was a yearly almanac published by Benjamin Franklin, who adopted the pseudonym of "Poor Richard" or "Richard Saunders" for this purpose. The publication appeared continually from 1732 to 1758. It sold exceptionally well for a pamphlet published in the American colonies; print runs reached 10,000 per year.

Excellent! This is exactly why I often get frustrated with Michael Pollan, Alice Waters, and even Marion Nestle at times. They can't seem to get out from under their own middle-class moralistic biases enough to see that you have to treat the disease-poverty-and not just the "symptoms", and stop thinking that poor nutritional habits are a willful, behavioral choice rather than ...

If only poor people understood nutrition!

Authors note: I do not condone rape in any form. This is merely a fantasy of mine, about a young girls journey from non-consent to enjoyment. This is my first story, so all criticism is appreciated, but please be nice.
